Health and science at Google

Joseph Ledsam
Google Japan

Over the last decade, Google has played a leading role in the development and application of machine learning models.

With particular reference to computational biology, Dr Joe Ledsam will provide an overview of some of Google's efforts to apply artificial intelligence to research challenges in science and healthcare.